During his brief visit to the convention of the United States internal revenue officers at Detroit yesterday, the president took occasion to say something regarding patronage, thus adding another political touch to his visit.

"They have charged me with using patronage to accomplish something." he said. "If I have, I am not conscious of it. But I challenge the men who make the charge to come forward and join with me in legislation which will enable me to put every local officer, be he postmaster, internal revenue collector, customs collector or anybody else.

The day's program includes a brief tour of the city by the president on his arrival, a review of 2,509 school children in the government park, after the president was scheduled to the law for scables in sheep.

The United Shoe Machinery company has branches in various parts of the werld.

Case Started in April.

Complaints made to the department of justice against the United Shoe Machinery company—the socalied "Shoe Machinery company—the socalied "Shoe Machinery Trust"—brought the attention of the government to the case.

It is understood that the corporation was charged with being a monopoly in restraint of trade. Infringements upon the part of the government followed the receipt of States passed through here today en route to northern Michigan when the special train carrying President Taft and his party was taken aboard the ferry to cross the strains of Mackinac. In spite of his hard day yesterday in the southern part of the state the president looked fresh and was evidently in good humor. His train stopped in Mackinaw City only a few minutes. This afternoon the president will be the guest of Sault Ste Marie, where he will lunch with Governor Osborn and inspect the looks at the Soo.

Because of his knowledge of the work to the Panama canal and looks, the president is intensely interested in those at the Soo. Leaving the Soo in the evening, he will travel still farther into the Michigan peninsula with Marquette as his stopping place over night. Senator Townsend of Michigan accompanied the president north from Detroit. Senator Smith did not come owing to the illness of his father, but will greet the president Thursday in Grand Rapids.
